Star*Mate Composite Report

Introduction

"The meeting of two personalities is like the contact of two chemical substances: if there is any reaction, both are transformed." Carl Jung

When we enter into a relationship with another person, we become a part of something greater than ourselves, the relationship. We are lifted out of ourselves. And it is through relationship, that we can truly see who we are as individuals, both the light and dark. So it is where it is most possible to develop personally, professionally and spiritually.

Astrology, derived from the Ancient Greek word astrologia meaning "telling of the stars," affords us information that usually remains hidden. Having a clear overview and understanding can empower us to achieve harmony and wholeness through a relationship and guide us through any troubled or dangerous waters. The composite (or relationship) chart can tell us what a relationship looks like inside, where we meet and where we don't. It shows us what experiences are possible together, what is easy or difficult. The composite chart will reveal the pattern and magic of a relationship when people come together. It is special and unique, just as the individuals who are relating, and ceases to exist when they are no longer together.

We long to participate in the magic and upliftment of relationship and we want to avoid the challenges and fears that it also brings. With the blueprint of our relationship in hand, we can gain and apply antidotes to the pains of relationship & celebrate more consciously the delights. Sometimes this means we can grow a common garden variety relationship into an exotic flower that can be appreciated and benefit all, including ourselves. And sometimes it precludes anything happening at all except the chaos of weeds. The choice all depends on the individuals involved, their goals, values and focus and what they do with the blueprint.

There is also a Mystery at the heart of every relationship that is not even revealed by the 'telling' of astrology. This is the uncharted territory of which even astrology can only allude to as Love or Fate.

These are the strengths and limitations of the composite chart and this interpretation attempts to empower you both with the blueprint and tools to guide your way in your relationship.

"The ritual of marriage is not simply a social event; it is a crossing of threads in the fabric of fate. Many strands bring the couple and their families together and spin their lives into a fabric that is woven on their children." Portuguese-Jewish Wedding Ceremony.

Chapter 1: Important Issues and Themes in your Relationship

"Intimate relationships cannot substitute for a life plan. But to have any meaning or viability at all, a life plan must include intimate relationships." Harriet Lerner

Every relationship is as individual, as are its participants! This chapter looks at the very bedrock of your relationship and identifies what your potential is when you are together. Each relationship has issues that need to be dealt with on an ongoing basis and different ways of dealing with them. There are also certain areas of life within which individuals find themselves when they are together. If the essence of a relationship is healthy and positive, there is nothing that you cannot accomplish in life and then the relationship is self-renewing and fulfilling. It is important to identify what in essence you have together that you can then build on. Then everything else is bonus!

Fifth/Eleventh House Emphasis in Composite Chart (4 or more planets):

Love is important in this relationship and you will enjoy each other's company. If this relationship has children, they will also be a strong focus. As too, a strong focus on your heart desires for yourselves as a couple. Be creative with this relationship - it doesn't have to follow traditional lines but will definitely be strong and fulfilling. It will be important to pay a lot of attention to each other to keep the spirit of joy and creative expression alive. This is may be a great love affair, relationship between parent and child, or a soul mate connection.

Sun in 5th or 11th house in composite chart:

This is a light, playful and very creative relationship. It will bear fruits either of love, children or creative projects. You must pay attention at times of stress to keep the spirit of joy and fun alive to keep it functioning at its best. You will certainly enjoy each other and the relationship. Warmth and spontaneity are also qualities of the relationship that could support you both and others. Whichever person appears to be the more active partner may identify much more with the creative relationship strength.

Moon in 4th or 10th house in composite chart:

This personal relationship is very good for marriage, business or both as you would feel so comfortable in your roles with each other. This is a significant personal relationship. The structure that you create will also be a source of personal nourishment to others connected to you. The more receptive partner may identify much more with the personal bond and structure that you have together.

Sun Conjunct Venus:

You enjoy and appreciate each other and are easily able to express love towards each other. You feel very attracted to be together and would be receptive to each other's love styles. You can't help loving each other. The more active partner may identify much more with the loving and attractive principle.

Sun Quincunx Saturn:

You may find it difficult to be consistent and still be able to express yourselves in this relationship. A creative resolution to this will need to be explored and that will build safety and allow the relationship purpose. If you relate more to being the active partner then you may identify much more with this struggle.

Sun Quincunx Uranus:

You may find that this relationship's purpose interferes with your individual freedom. You will be challenged to establish creative opportunities to encourage both. One of you will play the role of the more active partner and may identify much more with this challenge.

Moon Opposition Jupiter:

You feel good benefiting others and are very giving emotionally. You may have personal benefactors who support you and that inspire a confidence and optimism about yourselves. However you may also be controlled by big displays of feelings and need to make sure that you are in touch with the simple exchanges within the relationship. If you relate more to being the receptive partner then you may then identify much more with these extreme feelings.

Moon Semisextile Mars:

You easily feel passionate when together; you both value your ability to harness your energies together, either through sexual expression, exercise or work. The more receptive partner may identify much more with this energizing aspect.

Chapter 2: How You Complement One Another

"Passion makes the world go round. Love just makes it a safer place." Ice T, The Ice Opinion

It feels like a kind of magic when people are attracted to each other, about which we can only wonder. If it is not there, we are not drawn to continue connecting with each other. Depending on the strength and quality of this attraction it is easy, delightful or compulsive to connect. When we are in a long term relationship with someone it provides a pull that brings us back together through more difficult times. It is the desire adhesive that sticks us together; otherwise we would easily drift away from each other due to all the pressures of modern life. This magnetism, lack of it or repulsion is the subtle energy that binds us, or not, in relationship with others. That attraction can comprise of sexual desire, physical appreciation and feelings of love and warmth that are easily accessible. It helps us make the compromises that are necessary in any partnership and encourages our collaborating and co-operating with one another. As a result it is an extremely important factor in the fate and enjoyment of any kind of relationship.

Venus in 5th or 11th house in composite chart:

Your experience of love is heartfelt and playful and you will feel very happy together. You will find that this relationship thrives best when you can express your love for each other. You feel joyous in the love you share together and it can fulfill your heart's desire. This may be a love affair or deep caring of friendship and should bring great happiness. This is definitely a good position for any love or creative relationship.

Mars in 3rd or 9th house in composite chart:

You need a lot of movement in this relationship, either physical travel or ideas. You may like to communicate and this could be good for a friendship or learning type of relationship. You spark each other off and will be stimulated mentally when together. Be careful if you spar verbally, that your partner's feelings are not hurt. Make sure that you either travel together or spend some time together. You need the freedom to explore and providing for that need should keep the connection dynamic and passionate.

Venus Conjunct Mercury:

You can easily communicate your love to each other and you value harmony in this expression. You automatically know the right words that will convey how you care about each other and you will enjoy talking and possibly writing to each other. You value the beauty of your ideas of love and will honor that within the relationship. At times it may be hard to speak unpleasant truths or talk about difficulties, if they upset or wound each other. If this is the case, you may both be making all the right sounds on the surface and not speaking about problems that may eventually undermine the relationship.

Venus Trine Mars:

Your love and passion flow easily together and you may take it for granted a bit. However this is a wonderful link within a relationship and gives a lot of romantic & passionate energy in being together. Your sexual expression naturally flows with your love and is easily regenerated. You just fire each other up! This also works well for any kind of work you do together, you just love being together.

Venus Semisextile Jupiter:

You both feel blessed by love in this relationship and value showing how you care both with each other and others. You are also aware of what motivates your generosity of spirit so you can keep the well spring full and overflowing. You feel inspired together and feel more confident. You may delight in the sensual expression of your love together as well.

Mars Trine Mercury:

You find that this relationship is mentally stimulating; you love to talk and share ideas. Your ideas lead to action and you find it easy to clarify thoughts and stay interested in each other. Your easy communication builds a bridge to encourage energy, passion and sexual expression. You know what to say to turn each other on and you easily encourage each other in work and projects together.

Mars Quincunx Jupiter:

You may find that you overdo things when you are together so that you either lose energy or interest. You will need to find a creative balance between your getting your needs met and your excitement and enthusiasm.

Asc. Square Uranus:

This is an extremely strong individual relationship where you must honor each other's needs for freedom and independence. You can be very creative in building a business or home and family together and will tend to overturn the usual models in favor of what suits you both as individuals. This relationship will probably start very suddenly, almost instantaneously and if not given enough space and freedom could just as suddenly end.

Asc. Trine Chiron:

There is a great ease with your instincts and how the relationship expresses itself. Initially you were probably drawn to each other naturally and are easily able to heal any past relationship vulnerabilities that surface when you are together. Others also may experience a sense of healing and wholeness from this relationship.

Asc. Sextile Sun:

There is a great ease between the purpose of this relationship and how the relationship expresses itself to you and others. You feel that you are meant to be together and easily recognize the ease of being together. The person who is the more active partner may identify much more with this flowing ease of purpose as a couple.

Asc. Quincunx Saturn:

You will need to be creative in this relationship, although a strong loyalty exists between you. There may be challenges between how the relationship expresses and the commitment you share. You will both value the trust generated and understand what motivates this. Others may acknowledge the creativity that is necessary to resolve this.

Asc. Semisquare Mercury:

There will be some conflict between how this relationship expresses itself and how you think and communicate together. Others may contribute to the lack of clarity and focus, but you will need to resolve it, by learning creative methods of speaking and listening to each other and including your differences of opinion. This could make for stimulating dinner party conversation!

MC Conjunct Jupiter:

This is an incredibly significant and strongly blessed relationship! You will instantly feel that the world is a better place by being together. Opportunities and expansion are central to this relationship and there is just a very positive sense of confidence in what you can achieve together. You will both benefit from this relationship.

MC Opposition Uranus:

This is an incredibly significant and strongly freeing relationship! You will probably feel instantly magnetically drawn together and support each other in keeping this initial excitement alive. This can be done by encouraging independence and space whilst making sure that you both have enough relating/together time. The main difficulty with this aspect is that if a conscious focus is not kept on balancing these two dimensions, then the relationship can finish as quickly as it will start.

MC Trine Saturn:

This is a significant relationship as your needs for security and stability flow easily with the integrity and core of the relationship. You can commit for the long term in this relationship and engender trust in each other. You do not feel limited by the stability that exists when you are together.

MC Semisextile Sun:

This is a significant relationship but you will need to be creative together as there may be challenges between the integrity and core of the relationship and its purpose. You will both value being together and should be aware of what motivates you to be in a relationship. Others will also acknowledge the creativity you must bring to fully be in this relationship. If you relate more to being the active partner then you may identify much more with the creativity required to express yourselves.

MC Semisquare Mercury:

Although a significant friendship, at the very least, there will be some conflict with the integrity and core of this relationship and how you think and communicate together. Others may contribute to the lack of clarity and focus, but you will need to resolve it by learning creative methods of speaking and listening to each other to support you in building home, family or business together.

Chapter 3: How You Communicate

"Listen. Do not have an opinion while you listen because frankly, your opinion doesn't hold much water outside of Your Universe. Just listen. Listen until their brain has been twisted like a dripping towel and what they have to say is all over the floor." Hugh Elliott, Standing Room Only weblog, 02-14-2003

"When in doubt, tell the truth." Mark Twain (1835 - 1910)

The bridge that links us as individuals and saves us from our isolation is communication and so it is a key piece to any relationship. The good news is that anyone can learn communication skills if they are interested in bridging that gap. One of the main skills is listening, and of course we can listen not only with our ears but on all levels. And the other key skill is truth telling. These two basic keys are the best foundation for any kind of good relationship and guarantee that you can continue to grow and develop together.

In some relationships we easily develop good communication patterns but in others there are inherent stresses or resistances to healthy sharing on this level. We then have to work harder to maintain optimum communication levels. So when starting any new relationship, it would bode us well if we are initially challenged, to be realistic about how much effort will need to be expended in developing consciousness and healthy habits for the future relationship. Then we can choose whether this is worthy of our effort or not.

Be forewarned that the largest common cause of relationship breakdown is when there is a breakdown in communication. Then the bridge that everything else must cross to link us has fallen into the crevasse between us. Bringing consciousness to this area in all your relationships will pay off dividends with healthy, happy and flourishing connections with others.

Mercury in 5th or 11th house in composite chart:

Your ideas and communications are light and creative. You focus your conversations on whatever is closest to your hearts; creative projects, children, fun, games or hobbies that you share. The main focus is on communication that is fun and enjoyable. You like to speak and listen from your heart and focus your ideas on what makes you both happy! Ideas and conversations can be fun and enjoyable. The only difficulty here is that when topics of more intense and challenging issues on which you may need to focus, then you may experience some resistance.

Mercury Opposition Pluto:

Your ideas and communication styles may tend to swing backwards and forwards from superficial to intense and profound! You may find that one or both of you may identify with either end of this polarity. Generally your minds meet on a very deep level and this can promote honest exchange and deep intimacy. Your instinctive thoughts and perceptions are the strength of the connection. You will need to be conscious about not manipulating your partner and other's thinking however.

Mercury Trine Neptune:

Your communications and ideas are very empathic and tuned into each other. As a result you can join your minds together on the subtle plane, and have understanding on a level that is not possible for most. You both have a sensitivity to each other's ideas that supports the lack of boundaries in not being problematic. Rather than confusing, this can be like a subtle knowing and is very good for a spiritual relationship.

Mercury Sesquiquadrate Uranus:

Your individual needs for freedom may worry your day to day thinking and communicating together. Others may encourage this; however you will have to resolve it by creatively embodying your individual goals the context of being an unusual couple. It is important to curb your independence and keep it in balance with sharing time together.

Chapter 4: Challenges to Relating

"I love being married. It's so great to find that one special person you want to annoy for the rest of your life." Rita Rudner

In some cases the challenges to relating are easily transformed and then integrated and in others they feel more like stumbling towards the eventual collapse of the relationship! Challenges in life can be important to help us remain conscious in our participation with each other, rather than falling into a state of unconscious participation that allows our complexes full expression! However there is a middle line, a relationship cannot be all about work, but needs an element of relaxation so that we can rest and restore ourselves whilst together. If this place of refuge is not available then we cannot and will not persist with the development of a mature relationship. So it is important that any relationship is not overburdened with challenges and lacking any ease, joy and fun.

There are many kinds of challenges within relationships; these occur mainly in the areas of communication, sexuality, finances, security and trust to name just a few. All these challenges can be alleviated and bridged through clear communication. Trust can be established if you know that both parties are committed to growing the relationship. That is the foundation underneath any relationship, the willingness to go the distance through good times or bad, so that when life intervenes to 'spoil our fun' we have tools and a sense of perseverance to persist.

It is up to the individuals whether the challenges within their relationships are workable and ultimately elevating or whether they are more trouble than they are worth.

Saturn in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

This is a strong healing or service oriented relationship and you will work hard together for those purposes. There is probably some sort of inequality and that can be good for employee/employer or guru/student relationships. This could also be a very healing connection but does not show a relationship of equals. There is something greater than your individual egos working to keep you together. You have some lessons that need to be learned whilst working in this relationship and therefore a sense of loyalty or commitment is strong. It is important not to take advantage of the inequality of the relationship and try to control each other through service or health issues.

Saturn Square Chiron:

You may feel blocked from exposing human vulnerabilities within your relating, due to fear or insecurity. You have the ability to heal old relating wounds that surface when together. At times these may also be a source of rejection or lack of acceptance, and even judgment. You will be challenged to balance both your humanity and need for social appearances.

Saturn Sextile Uranus:

You have opportunities to support your individual freedom and independence within the rules and structure of this relationship. Your commitment can support creative free expression and identity. Others may facilitate these experiences for both of you.

Saturn Semisquare Neptune:

Your lack of boundaries and sensitivity may undermine your foundation in the relationship. Your high ideals may at cross purposes with your needs for safety needs within the relationship. It is important for you both to clarify and honor your boundaries and then commit to each other to promote security.

North Node in 2nd or 8th house in composite chart:

You will feel drawn to build a relationship that has security and stability together. You have great value in being together and are willing to invest whatever it takes to make the relationship strong! You will feel compelled to go the distance together without thinking about it. Within this instinctive commitment you will discover the areas that need to be developed or worked upon as individuals within this relationship. These lessons will tend to be focused on sharing, trust, security, financial issues, sexual expression, and/or the valuing of each other as individuals.

True Node Square Mercury:

Your destined sharing of ideas may be in conflict with your individual thinking and communication styles. The fateful movement that is required by this relationship may also be in conflict with the relationship that you share. Within the context of this conflict, you will discover the areas that need to be developed or worked upon as individuals within this relationship. These lessons will tend to be focused on thinking, communicating, understanding and learning.

True Node Trine Jupiter:

You may take it for granted how easily you develop the destiny of your beliefs and sense of meaning together. You will smoothly integrate your fateful sense of blessedness and growth by being together. Within the context of this flow, you will discover the areas that will easily be developed as individuals within this relationship. These lessons will be around learning, meaning and enthusiasm.

True Node Semisquare Uranus:

Your individual needs may aggravate your compulsion to be together. Others may become involved in the relationship, unsettling the security you have together. You will learn a lot together about developing an individual and creative relationship and honoring each other as individuals whilst together.

True Node Semisquare Asc.:

Although an important partnership, there will be some conflict between the destiny of this relationship and how you relate both with yourselves and others. Your high ideals may be at cross purposes with your needs for safety within the relationship. However, whilst together you will learn a lot about relating both with each other and those around you.

Black Moon Lilith in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

This relationship has a soulful need for service and spiritual expression. The big difficulty here is that there is a basic inequality when you are together and one person may feel that they are in soul service (or bondage?) to the other. It is important that both your individual needs are served and therefore that may happen for at least one of you, outside the relationship. The deep sexual and emotional desires that surface within the relationship may not find a direct outlet or one person may feel more fulfilled than the other. Please note however, that this may be a karmic reckoning on a spiritual level and therefore perfectly ok in some instances, where that is of the highest value.

True Lilith Conjunct Saturn:

You feel profoundly bound together by the soulful connection between you. You have a basic commitment and loyalty that supports you in working through the issues around unconscious feelings or sexuality that surface in the relationship. You instinctively trust each other in these areas and are able to provide a structure or foundation for energies that would normally overwhelm or be socially unacceptable.

True Lilith Trine MC:

This is a significant relationship as the integrity and core of the relationship flows easily with the deep emotions and sexuality that surface within the relationship. The roles you share together whether in work, home or family integrate easily together with this level that is normally unconscious. It is easy to accept and integrate, so that you are capable of functioning together on a profound, soulful level.

True Lilith Quincunx Sun:

You may find it difficult to integrate the deep emotional and sexual feelings you share with your purpose of being together. You need to find a creative resolution to this paradox and find ways to bring to consciousness these normally hidden and unconscious components. If you relate more to being the active partner then you may identify much more with the creative challenges with this basic level and your mission.

True Lilith Semisquare Neptune:

Your lack of boundaries and sensitivity may undermine your attempts to satisfy more hidden, darker soul feelings and sexuality. Your high ideals may at cross purposes with your needs for safety within the relationship. It is important for you both to clarify and honor your boundaries, so that the relationship can sustain the flooding of unconscious feelings and sexuality.

Chapter 5: Background of the Relationship

"My mother used to say that there are no strangers, only friends you haven't met yet. She's now in a maximum security twilight home in Australia." Dame Edna Everage (1934)

"Nobody sees a flower - really - it is so small it takes time - we haven't time - and to see takes time, like to have a friend takes time." Georgia O'Keeffe (1887 - 1986)

"Don't accept rides from strange men, and remember that all men are strange." Robin Morgan

We have many different types of relationships. These days we have the luxury of being able to be very creative with all our relationships and can work together to make them suit us as individuals. We have grown beyond automatically relating from predetermined roles. This is truly wonderful as it has the great advantage that we then are challenged to stay conscious whilst we interact with each other.

It is important in any kind of relationship to have friendship as the underlying foundation. The origins of the word friend come from the Old English word "freond" which meant "to love, to favor" and is related to the Old English word "freo" which meant "free". This is a clue as to how to make all our relationships successful, to honor each other's freedom as individuals and to love each other. This can be applied to all business and personal relationships if we want to achieve the highest expression of potential between others.

Jupiter in 4th or 10th house in composite chart:

You are blessed together to the very core of your relationship. This is a wonderful relationship to expand and grow the structures that you build together, whether that is home, family or business. You will have a very positive and enthusiastic take on these things and those around you will benefit too! This area of your lives will be where you learn and grow the most from each other and where others will also learn from you too!

Chiron in 2nd or 8th house in composite chart:

This relationship exposes vulnerabilities from past relationship wounds, as regards trust, safety and security. As a result there is a strong focus and need to bring to balance these very human insecurities. Whatever constitutes security and trust for both of you can be developed and healed. As a result you have an ability to establish safety for those around you as well. There may be strong issues around the physical, sexual component of the relationship and the vulnerabilities that it engenders. You have the potential of great balance in the areas of security and trust.

Uranus in 3rd or 9th house in composite chart:

This relationship has a strong focus on individual expression and ideas. As a result you will encourage each other to speak your truth and be free to think what is most important to you as individuals. Together you will aim for focusing on bigger issues and ideas than the mundane issues of life which would only promote boredom. The important thing here is to beware that sometimes truth needs to be spoken with a diplomatic slant in relationship so as not to undermine each other's self confidence. Also the mundane aspects of life will also need to be addressed even in this relationship, so you may need to get creative about that piece.

Neptune in 1st or 7th house in composite chart:

This is an extremely spiritual partnership and a real soul connection. However boundary issues will need to be addressed as there will be a tendency to operate as if one person. You both need to be clear, honest and responsible as individuals so that this relationship can operate at its best! You have a strong intuitive and empathic link between you and this can be part of the strength in your union.

Pluto in 5th or 11th house in composite chart:

This relationship has an intense focus on expressing your heart's desires and love for each other. You have the possibility of transformation and empowerment through the intensity of your relationship. It is extremely important that you focus on the Love you have for each other rather than resorting to control or manipulation of each other, or those around you. Creative expression, fun, entertainment, children and sports are also areas that you could both focus upon with profound effect.

Chiron Quincunx Uranus:

You may find it difficult to give each other freedom and independence because of past relationship wounds that surface when you are together. You will need to find a creative balance between your acceptance of basic human vulnerability and your needs for independent movement.

Ceres in 4th or 10th house in composite chart:

This relationship has a central and pivotal basis of care in its very core and integrity. You have come together to build a structure whether home, family or business that will flourish within the love and care that you will devote. Together you have a great ability to grow and support each other to flourish. You may even have a business that involves feeding people, as in hospitality, and certainly food will be a wonderful experience if you share a home. You may have a foundation in the past or through your respective families of care, whether physical or psychological. However if this relationship is threatened, you will experience the opposite of devastation and loss. This could result in depression or the demise of the structure you have been building together.

Juno in 2nd or 8th house in composite chart:

This relationship has clearly defined roles in building trust and security together. This can be in the form of material and financial security or psychological security. Your sexual relationship too is the focus of roles together, just be careful to retain some spontaneity as well. Because stability and security are so important to you both, it is important not to resort to game playing and deception. It is human nature to "want to have it all", much better to be honest and build this into your roles together.

Vesta in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

This relationship has a devotion to work and service and you bring a sense of warmth to your goals. You may both be involved in a spiritual relationship that serves you or others. This relationship has an inherent inequality and this may be suitable for some relationships such as work. However in other relationships this inequality can be undermining. You also need to be careful that your relationship doesn't revolve totally around work, unless that is the only reason you are together. Be careful not to distract yourselves with work and service when matters of the heart may need to be addressed with love and/or passion.

Psyche in 3rd or 9th house in composite chart:

This relationship is focused on thinking and communicating about the human vulnerabilities you share within your love and sexual relationship. By talking about these things, you will have a real opportunity to learn and integrate and leverage the sensitivity that exists between you in this regard. You may both be involved in speaking, teaching, writing, publishing or media work within the psychology of relating. There is a great sense of meaning in being together that feeds your soul on a higher level.

Sappho in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

Work and service are the focus of your passionate romantic and sexual attraction. You have deep value for each and the work or health issues you share. You will be creative, if not poetic in how you serve each other and those around you. The only difficulty here is that this is not a relationship of equals so it may be important that whoever is in service, get their needs met in creative ways outside the relationship. Then this will not be undermining to the relationship. As a couple you possibly support others in preparation for the challenges of formalizing partnerships through marriage or some other official bond.

Eros in 5th or 11th house in composite chart:

You focus your erotic love towards your heart's desires and creative expression. You are creative with your sexual life and know what turns each other on. Your erotic life can be compulsive so that if you choose to have children, they may tend to be secondary to your sex life and it would serve you to put things in place to cater to that. This can also happen if you follow a creative profession. in that your erotic life can either feed or take the focus off this. You will both certainly have a passion for your creative expression, children, entertainment, fun or sports. Your hearts will definitely be in your sexual life.

Cupido in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

Your work and service is focused on the physical attraction and chemistry that you share. Your physical beauty is important to your work and how you look after each other. However in this relationship there is an implication of inequality in the beauty stakes, so someone will need to implement support and encouragement outside the relationship for their own needs. This will stop any destructive outcomes within the relationship. You will have to be careful to not be caught too much in the superficial look of the relationship. It is also important to attend to the heart of your love and care for each other.

Amor in 4th or 10th house in composite chart:

Your ideal love supports you both in building a core life structure together, whether home, family or business. Love is the very integrity that glues you together. The differences that show up in the roles you share, will help you identify your boundaries. It is important to both of you that your structure really shows the unconditional love that you share. Your family, past or genetics may be part of the foundation of your love.

Aphrodite in 6th or 12th house in composite chart:

The fated quality to your love has brought you both together for work, service or health issues. Your work may also involve art and beauty. There is a special magic that draws you together for these purposes, however you this is not an equal fated relationship. One of you may feel drawn by love to help your partner, and obviously this is appropriate for some kinds of relationships. However if this is the case, it would serve you well to make sure that your needs are served outside the relationship due to the inequality.

Ceres Square Neptune:

On the intuitive, subtle level you may find it hard to care and support each other. You want to nurture each other but it may be difficult to identify each other's boundaries about what is appropriate care, and what is not. It is important that you clearly communicate your needs and have appropriate space to identify where your individual responsibilities lie. You will need to honor each other's individual boundaries and uniqueness within the empathic connection that you share. Also the fears of loss of the relationship may interfere on a subtle level, seeming to rise up out of nowhere (the unconscious) to overwhelm with a sense of terror.

Juno Opposition True Node:

You are brought together to build a strong partnership with some kind of contract or bond, possibly marriage or business. You both will learn about the roles and responsibilities within partnership and also clarity around boundary issues. You will establish commitment and loyalty within the relationship and learn about issues of trust whilst together. You will feel a strong sense of destiny around the bond between you, whether marriage or business.

Juno Square Mercury:

You have difficulty focusing your ideas and communications on the contract or bond you share, whether marriage or business. You are bonded together but there seems to be inherent differences in how you communicate and think. You will need to bring clarity of thought & speech to identifying your roles and responsibilities together. Regular communication and discussion will also support loyalty and commitment. It is also useful to identify your boundaries with each other to develop trust in the relationship. This could be an important friendship at the very least.

Juno Square Pluto:

You have difficulty maintaining the contract or bond you share, whether marriage or business, due to the intensity of your transformative connection. You are bonded together, but there seems to be inherent differences in your requirements for empowerment. It is important to gear your roles and responsibilities towards Love rather than will to power or control. This can then regenerate the relationship and give it an experience of resilience, as regards your loyalty and commitment. You will need to allow any boundary issues to surface and acknowledge and honor them, so as to allow healing for each of you.

Juno Trine Moon:

You feel easily comfortable within this important personal relationship and the contract or bond that you share, whether marriage or business. There is a real flow between being together and your comfort levels. You feel good about your roles and responsibilities together and so loyalty and commitment flow easily. Whoever identifies with being the more receptive partner will recognize the flow of feeling within your roles.

Vesta Square Mars:

At times you may find that your sexual desire and energy outlets are frustrated or experience bad timing. You also need to pay attention to developing assertive techniques to make sure that your needs can be addressed. There is a strong drive to harness both your sexuality and energy to the cause of higher aspects of Love, but your individual needs also need to be addressed for a happy relationship. You need to be careful that you don't push your individual drives and energy down, becoming passive aggressive whilst holding a focus on an almost tantric union which may exist only on the spiritual level. You both may benefit from time out to identify your individual needs and then communicate them can be an enormous help.

Vesta Trine Moon:

There is incredible ease and flow in this personal relationship, with its strong work ethic. You enjoy feeling like comrades in arms, so that you are able to share your lives with each other on the more objective level as well. This relationship has a real flow of spiritual service and devotion to the higher truth of Love. You enjoy being interdependent rather than co-dependent, and easily honor each other's individual paths within the close personal bond that you share. Whoever feels more like the receptive partner will relate much more to these comfortable feelings around creative service.

Psyche Conjunct Mars:

There is a strong caring drive within this relationship and which is a focus of your energies and sexual expression. You are asked to deal with any frustration of desire by focusing on the Love you share, rather than will to power. When you accomplish this you will find that your personal development grows incrementally, whilst you are together. You are challenged to transform your individual desires and urges through your sexuality or projects that you are involved with together.

Psyche Trine Mercury:

There is a real flow of ideas and conversations in which you experience meaning and understanding yourselves as individuals, within this relationship. You may take it for granted how easy psychological transformation and empowerment result through your ideas and communications. There is a psychic link which flows between you and an easy commitment towards personal development through your love that is shared.

Psyche Trine Neptune:

The intuitive and empathic link between you easily helps you both to develop personally, within this relationship. The subtle level brings a flow of awareness and understanding for you as individuals, as this is reflected through the relationship. It is easy to treat the relationship as a sacred container for transformation and empowerment. You may also take for granted the easy flow as you raise your Love to a higher more spiritual level, developing you both in consciousness and awareness.

Psyche Sextile Pluto:

This is a profound relationship where you both have opportunities to experience deep transformative work together. Others may support you in your focus on empowerment and Love rather than will to power. The relationship can change both of you and at times almost resemble a therapy process. There are real possibilities for major healing as regards personal growth, whilst you are together. Those around you may help you understand personal vulnerabilities and feelings that are reflected through each other, and help you stay balanced and not be too obsessive.

Sappho Opposition Asc.:

This is an important partnership as you are both romantically and passionately entwined and also good friends. You like to converse on the subject of Love and relating and may touch others in this regards, as well. You have a deep appreciation for each other and this appreciation may even be expressed through some form of creative expression. You are really facilitated in bonding in the partnership. You like to share things together and enjoy being a couple.

Sappho Square Uranus:

This relationship is challenged to stand in its own right without your resistance to its creative development. You can achieve this by honoring and valuing each other as individuals. You need a detached emotional stance that supports a good friendship and communication. You may be in conflict as to your aesthetic values and tastes and this can be creatively expressed through the relationship. It can be an exciting and sexual relationship, if you both cultivate your romantic and passionate expression. You may also have resistance to being changed due to the profundity and sharing within this relationship which needs to be handled creatively.

Eros Conjunct Sun:

This is a great Love and is the purpose of being together! You are touched deeply by this erotic connection. There is an incredible magnetic attraction and pull, to be together physically. You are both challenged to love your vulnerabilities and find a sense of meaning in surrendering to Love. This is an extremely sexy and sexual relationship, where your individual desires trigger you like an aphrodisiac. As the more active partner, you may identify much more with being moved by this great Love.

Cupido Conjunct Saturn:

You have a very traditional and possibly conservative view of beauty and how you need to look as a couple. What we find attractive is usually a reflection of hidden, unacknowledged parts of ourselves! Make sure to also address the heart of the relationship too, especially any vulnerability. It may be very important for you to present a very stable, mature front, as this creates security for you both. You could very well be some of 'the beautiful people' when you are together and you may even be involved in some sort of work that is based on your shared tastes in beauty and the arts.

Cupido Conjunct Pluto:

You are intensely drawn to each other's beauty and present as a powerfully attractive couple. Your likes and dislikes are somewhat black and white and your ideals may revolve around the higher power of Love rather than will to power. In fact as a couple you may fascinate others, no more than you both feel fascinated. You share similar strong tastes in beauty and art. Being together can transform you as regards beauty; however it is important not to be too obsessed with the superficial. Be careful not to drive hard or be too ambitious to satisfy unconscious emotional needs and fantasies, without regard for the integrity of your partner.

This relationship is a turn on just make sure that the focus is on the relationship, not just individual desire.

Cupido Square Chiron:

You are challenged to present as a perfect couple, and you may have differences of tastes in style and beauty. You may conflict as regards your high ideals in relationships and aesthetics and at times may struggle with any human weaknesses. Try to integrate and accept any vulnerability that emerges from past relationship wounds. Also try to look for the beauty in the ordinariness of your relationship and your bodies. You can then have an extremely sexy relationship, as long as no judgments are brought to bear on either of you, when your ideals are realized in the real world.

Chapter 6: Summary

"Just because you love someone doesn't mean you have to be involved with them. Love is not a bandage to cover wounds." Hugh Elliott, Standing Room Only weblog, February 16, 2004

"The conception of two people living together for twenty-five years without having a cross word suggests a lack of spirit only to be admired in sheep." Alan Patrick Herbert

"Why is it so hard to find a soulmate? Because most of us are actually searching for egomates instead. We place the most limited and unloving aspect of our minds in charge of our search for love, and then wonder why we aren't succeeding. To the degree that we identify with this false sense of self, and operate on the basis of its limited point of view, we aren't looking for someone to love so much as recruiting fellow actors to take on supporting roles in a favorite melodrama." Carolyn Godschild Miller "Soulmates: Following Inner Guidance to the Relationship of Your Dreams."

Relationships can be challenging & sometimes seem more trouble than they are worth. We are challenged to live our best life & to be the best that we can be! These days going down the relationship path, consciously, can be more profound & enlightening than getting thyself into a nunnery! We see each other through the mirror & reflection in each other's eyes, of who we are & what we are doing or not doing! We cannot hide or delude ourselves when we live in the light of our partner's eyes.

So if we choose to take this path in life we are subject to all the gifts & joys of sharing, companionship, care & love that relating can bring. We are also brought more fully into conscious attention to our own souls & personal development. We honor & respect each other's boundaries & separation so that we can unite with each other in love & compassion.

On a bigger scale the microcosm of our personal & business relationships are the seed of our community, our country & our planet. We have all been brought together under the banner of humanity & our spiritual challenge is learning to live with ourselves firstly & then others in a harmonious, peaceful & respectful way! When seen from this perspective, whatever needs to be addressed in our immediate relationships, will provide a good basis for a better planet!

May these reflections help serve that purpose!
