Introduction

Introduction, Personal Security Report:

The purpose of this report is to provide you with information which you can use to help protect yourself (or your child) from crime, based on your astrological chart.

The most important thing to remember always is that it is YOU -YOUR consciousness and YOUR willpower which are your best protection against crime. The value of this report is to provide you with information which will help YOU, as an empowered, responsible, and creative individual to make the most effective decisions for yourself. This report is a resource for you to use; it is supportive of your own ability to make your own, best choices.

In fact, crimes occur only when individuals are out of touch with their inner strengths. If they are not in tune with themselves, they may not realize that they are not protecting themselves. They may be in a state of mind where they have lost sight of the knowledge that they CAN control their own destiny.

However, by being aware of the specific pitfalls to which you might be susceptible as an individual, you can concentrate your energies on protecting yourself in those areas first. Then you will have increased your level of safety and freed yourself to work on unfolding your inner potential in other ways.

By transforming your fear of crime into an experience of your own empowerment, you will be confronting some of your deepest fears and healing them on a permanent, deep, karmic level. The benefits, therefore, will go far beyond crime prevention in allowing you to advance along the spiritual path.

When persons are trapped in the cycle of karma, they can mistakenly believe that they must endure hurt or punishment. They create the hurt and punishment by thinking these negative thoughts. They attract negativity from other people, even to the extreme of attracting victimhood by crime. The answer is to become aware of what thoughts you are thinking on the unconscious level and to replace these thoughts with positive ones. Then, you will attract security, happiness, and self-confidence into your life.

Your natal astrological chart reveals where you may be thinking negative thoughts. It also suggests what you can do, given your unique personality, to divert these same energies into positive outlets. The essence of this report, then, is to show you what these energies are and how to work with them positively. In addition, this report elaborates on your many positive talents and strengths, which are additional resources which you can use both to protect yourself from crime and to go beyond that in healing yourself and the planet.

In the entire range of features in your chart, there are likely to be some energies which could lead to a vulnerability to crime more than others if they are not handled wisely. Any such aspects, which indicate a particular need for conscious work on your part in order to minimize any risk of crime, are indicated by a # at the beginning of the first paragraph of the interpretation. Do not worry if you have some #'s. They do not mean that any crime will necessarily happen to you; they just mean that, if you want to do some conscious work to make sure that you are protecting yourself, then these are the most important places to start. In fact, the ones marked # are usually the ones where you can develop the strongest POSITIVE abilities, if you go to the conscious effort of ensuring that these same energies are directed positively rather than negatively.

In addition, you may have some special gifts indicated in your chart. These are special abilities which you were already born with and to which you already have easy access. These are special talents which you can use to deal with the ones marked # in your own chart and which you can also use to go beyond that to solve the crime problem in your community and in society as a whole. Your outstanding talents in this regard are marked with a ! at the beginning of the first paragraph of the interpretation. You will find that you feel more fulfilled and that your energy flows better if you use any such talents for the positive purposes for which they were intended. Any marked ! would be your starting point if you decide to go beyond protecting yourself from crime to helping others.

Please note that no claim is made or implied that this report will guarantee that you will be safe from crime, because what really counts is how you use the knowledge gained from the report. Also, you may have had past karma prior to reading the report which would take special work to neutralize, in order for all risk of crime to be removed.

Note: This Report is a serious report, rather than being on the level of entertainment. It addresses the serious problem of crime and how to overcome it. If you have ever been a victim of a crime, or know someone who has, or if you live in an area where crime is an issue, it is designed to help you. If you are fortunate enough not to have been touched by crime, it will give you insight into the problem and show you how you can, if you choose, from your fortunate position, improve the world for others, by putting your higher compassion to good use.

Chapter 1: The Ascendant

Ascendant, Introduction:

The Ascendant indicates how we present ourselves to the world. Even if we are a certain way inside, we may not realize that we are projecting a different impression outwardly. By knowing how we first appear to others, we can be safer and better able to defend ourselves and avoid situations with which we do not identify.

If we project positively, this comes back to us. If we project negatively, this comes back to us too.

The Ascendant is also important as a focal point for other energy in the chart and for the energy which comes back to us.

Libra Rising:

Your personality is openly sociable. This can work in your favor if you pacify those who might otherwise be hostile. However, just make sure that the persons to whom you are friendly are trustworthy and not trying to take advantage of you.

You may well work in a field where you are creating peace and preventing crime, such as a marriage counselor, lawyer or judge. Also, you are creating good karma, in terms of the energy which comes back to you, so you are helping to protect yourself from crime through your positive interactions with others.

As you seek peace, you will automatically avoid situations of conflict and stay away from criminals in this way. However, if you are ever in a situation where conflict is present, you will be good at neutralizing it through your excellent mediation skills.

As you tend to weigh one side against the other before making a decision, you need to develop consciously the ability to think quickly when you have to, in case hesitation would leave you in any kind of danger. Also, as you tend to use your mental abilities in most situations, there may also be some occasions for which you could best prepare by fostering a more practical, down-to-earth outlook, even if that seems a bit cold socially.

Chapter 2: The Sun

Sun, Introduction:

The Sun rules the expression of basic energy potential and creative drive to grow and develop as an individual. It rules the dynamic expression of the will.

If the energy of the Sun is blocked or distorted, the negative manifestations which may occur are crimes resulting from the compulsion or will to do something; crimes as part of a lifestyle; crimes involving the life of someone; crimes resulting from a weak ego or the ability to be influenced; and crimes resulting from a threatened ego or from too much egotism.

To protect yourself from crimes involving the energy of the Sun, you need to affirm the strength of your own willpower. If you do this, whatever happens, you will still be fully aware at the deeper levels of your personality that you are a valuable, creative individual, in control of your own destiny. Affirm, too, that your inner will comes into manifestation from the infinite source, so that your ego will be guided by the spiritual direction. In that way, you will not be attached to your ego, but will see it as a connection to something even greater. Your ego is the means of bringing the inspiration of this greater power into your daily life.

Sun in Taurus:

One of your best predictions against crime is your physical strength. You are reliable and solid in a crisis and not likely to panic. In addition, because of your patient disposition you avoid crime by appeasing others and not getting them angry with you. You plan ahead and are, therefore, likely to live in an area with a low crime rate.

You probably have a good home and valuable possessions, which, with your innate nature of looking ahead to your future security, you protect well. You are likely to shop around for the best value in security equipment and to buy from an established company.

You need to work on your inner feeling of security, because, if you are attached to the idea that outer possessions are the only things involved in feeling secure, then you could be setting yourself up for a theft of these possessions, in order that you can learn the inner spiritual lesson that real security comes from within.

So, learn these lessons first and do not wait for it to happen through a crisis, which would only greatly upset your need for security anyway. Therefore, love yourself and affirm that you are a worthy person and then you will be in touch with the knowledge that you are secure whether you have possessions or not. Then, you will not be anxious and you will not attract any criminal victimization towards yourself and you will enjoy your possessions even more.

Sun in the 7th House

You tend to be dominant with your marriage partner and you need to make sure that he or she has enough opportunity for self-expression, so that there will not be any domestic discord between you.

You would be very dynamic as a mediator between two opposing sides in any misunderstanding or disagreement. You would be able to help keep our society more peaceful in this way. You might be able to work as a marriage counselor, judge or police officer.

You may have open enemies but at least they are out in the open and you know who they are. They will not bother you as long as you do not take aggressive action and as long as you make efforts towards peace.

Sun Opposition Moon:

You need to find a balance between expressing your ego and harmonizing that with your emotions. You may tend to fly off the handle if you feel that your ego is being threatened, until you learn to achieve more integration. This tendency may have arisen from some type of conflict between your parents when you were young and you may have had difficulty deciding whose side to be on in the areas where your parents opposed each other.

However, now you can be your own, independent person and realize that you have a solid, inner, infinite core which transcends all polarities and differences. If you work on this, you will remove any vulnerability to domestic discord and create a happy family life for yourself.

Sun Opposition Jupiter:

You need to find a balance between asserting your own ego and pursuing philanthropic causes. You can achieve this by first realizing that your ego springs from the same, inner spiritual inspiration as does your desire to improve the world. If you are tuned in to your inner voice, you will know when you need to express your own personal will and when it is best to involve yourself in large projects. You may also be able to find a project in which you can express your ego, particularly if you are the leader.

You have two very dynamic kinds of energy here and it is important that they both be expressed outwardly and enthusiastically, as such strong potential could not be kept inside, without your wanting to burst out and take control of something or take a long trip or undertake some crusade. If kept inside, this energy could, in a worst-case scenario, put you at some type of risk of fire, because you would be seeking unconsciously to suppress your own inner fire, so keep active in creative and generous projects.

Chapter 3: The Moon

Moon, Introduction:

The Moon, in its usual meaning, rules immediate emotional responses, attitudes instilled from family or childhood, your likely reaction to external influences and the actions of others, home life, your relationships with your mother and with women in general, and your manner of responding to the public at large.

If the energy of the Moon is blocked or distorted, its negative manifestations can occur. That would include crimes involving the role of mother, wife, or live-in girlfriend; emotionally-based crimes; crimes resulting from a disrupted childhood; crimes involving sentimental items; and crimes resulting from immediate feelings or fears. In fact, quite often it is the transiting Moon which triggers a natal planet when a crime occurs. (Mars is the other frequent trigger).

To protect yourself from crimes associated with Moon energy, work at cultivating domestic peace or else move into a more nurturing home environment; work through any childhood traumas you may have had; be in tune with your emotions; protect any sentimental items you may possess; and learn to think logically, rather than get caught up in the emotions of others. As long as you nurture yourself and act as if you value your home, you will dispel the kind of energy which would work against your home security.

Moon in Libra:

With your gracious, gentle manner, you are likely to associate with peaceful persons and not the kind who are likely to commit crimes. In fact, you are so good at keeping peace that you could make a valuable contribution to others by teaching them how to maintain peace in their homes too and how to offset domestic violence through agreement and compromise.

If faced with a confronting situation in which your emotions are upset, you may tend to become indecisive and avoid taking action. For your own protection, your need to realize that there are some situations in which the more peaceful solution in the long-run is to make a quick decision - say, to fight off an attacker or to respond to an emergency.

You also need to realize that not everyone shares your need for harmony and that it is in your interest not to be naive about the part of society which you yourself avoid. For example, it may seem like an ugly topic to think about a self-defense course or about home-security, but you are better off having these measures in place.

You would be a good negotiator if faced with any unpleasant situation, involving either yourself or other parties and this skill would be very useful in preventing crime.

In general, your thoughts about peace, in turn, create peace.

Moon in the 1st House

You may be acting from your emotional responses to your early environment, so make sure that you are tuned in realistically to the way things actually are now rather than then, in terms of whether you are safe from crime. You may have had some rough experiences when you were young, but it is not necessarily true that you need to worry about the same conditions now. On the other hand, the neighborhood may not now be as safe as it was then and you would need to make appropriate adjustments for that.

You are emotionally self-expressive and that is generally good, but you need to be aware that if the emotion you are expressing is sudden anger, it needs to be kept under control if you are to avoid making enemies with others.

You are likely to take good care of your physical body, to heal it and develop it. Because you respect your body, you are less likely to be attacked by anyone, because, rather than be like a victim, you are healthy and fit, despite any worries you may have about it.

Chapter 4: Mercury

Mercury, Introduction:

Mercury rules both Gemini and Virgo. Gemini pertains to the communication of thoughts and information, whereas Virgo has to do with the organization and analysis of facts. Both are mental signs and are usually above the lower realm in which crimes tend to occur.

If the energy of Mercury is blocked or distorted, there are some negative manifestations of its energy which can take place. One of the Gemini ones is smooth talking. Another is clouded thinking. Crimes involving secret communications or interference with communication would also have a Mercury component. As for Virgo, Virgo has to do with analysis and logic and can, therefore, indicate the pushing of rules. Virgo is related to small details and can be a factor in petty theft. The work connotation of Virgo can come out in crimes in the workplace. White-collar crimes can have a Mercury component.

To protect yourself from crimes in which Mercury energy is a factor, develop your mind so that you will be able to outsmart the offender. Use your mental ability, so that you will not be unconsciously leaving it up to the less scrupulous to remind you of the potential of mental faculties. Have your information organized and communicate it well, to leave less room for crime to occur.

Mercury in Taurus:

You can use your mental ability to figure out the best means for your security. For example, you are good at reasoning out the most practical ways to protect your house, possessions and money.

You are aware that a solid, nice-looking structure is the safest kind of house. No one can break into it and no one would want to spoil it. You are also very aware that you need to earn enough money if you are going to enjoy the security you want.

Work on cultivating inner security, by thinking positive thoughts. It makes sense that inner security is the basis of outer security, just as a good building must have a solid foundation. Therefore, feel good about yourself. Do not be criticizing yourself for not making enough money as you can be secure within yourself anyway. Also, positive thoughts will help to bring you the material things you desire. Positive thinking will also make you less vulnerable to crime, because if you are not down on yourself, neither will other people think of victimizing you.

You are both quick-acting and reliable in a crisis, not letting your emotions run away with you. These would be good abilities in the event of any possible attack.

Beware of persons who engage in sweet-talk. Find out what their real motivations are.

Mercury in the 8th House

You are deeply interested in science and the occult and may be able to come up with rational ways of applying this knowledge to find solutions to the problem of crime. You love a mystery and will use your intellect and creativity to solve it.

You tend to communicate secretly with others and may thus protect yourself from becoming a target for those who are upset by the controversial. Of course you need to make sure that others will not try to get secret information from you, as you are entrusted with much confidential information. Think about who could use the information which you have and for what purpose and how they might go about trying to get it from you, so that you will be prepared with solutions in advance.

Mercury Conjunction Venus:

You are a good communicator but beware of others who may have nice-sounding words but unknown motives.

You are likely to be intellectual and analytical about relationships, able to analyze what is wrong if there is a lack of harmony but perhaps somewhat aloof emotionally.

You are likely to be a good creative writer, able to find the best way to put across your ideas artistically and pleasingly. You would also be very harmonious in your verbal communications and this would help to protect you from crime, because you would be bringing about peace rather than discord.

Mercury Trine Pluto:

You have a great talent for communicating with the masses. You instinctively know which words will have the best effect and you are a good speaker. You could promote the cause of crime prevention through either the written or the spoken word. As a reporter, you would be objective but at the same time would bring out the real issues.

If you were ever in a situation where you were dealing with a criminal, you would know what to say. You would think and act quickly.

You would have the ability to compile information about crimes and to work with statistics to see the overall patterns. You would also be good at organizing a crime prevention project in your neighborhood, because you would quickly telephone everyone and talk them into working at turning the neighborhood around.

Chapter 5: Venus

Venus, Introduction:

Venus rules both Libra and Taurus. It rules social, romantic and artistic expression, social relationships and close friendships. Venus, being the traditional goddess of love, is the opposite polarity to Mars, the god of war. The energy of Venus, when properly used, can offset the aggression of Mars and thereby neutralize the tendency towards many crimes. Venus can make peace and build bridges of understanding.

However, when the energy of Venus gets distorted or is not allowed its proper expression, it can result in crimes associated with too much passivity or not enough aggression, such as robbery, attacks on females or vulnerable males, sexual assault, and crimes involving girlfriends. What happens in these crimes is that, when there is a build-up of unexpressed Venus energy in the victim, it attracts the opposite polarity to itself. These crimes occur when there is also a build-up of too much Mars energy (or sometimes Pluto or other energy) in the offender. The two polarities meet, often without the prior conscious awareness by either victim or offender that their energy is out of balance. You can avoid crimes associated with your Venus energy by making sure that it has enough legitimate outlets, such as art, loving relationships and good friendships.

Venus in Taurus:

You have a very peaceful, artistic nature, certainly not the aggressive nature which one would associate with involvement in disputes of any kind.

You are also loyal and enduring in relationships. Therefore, you are likely to bring about domestic harmony, rather than any disagreement in the home.

As you are honest rather than shrewd, you need to be cautious with others who may not share your belief that they should work for what they have. However, because you are honest, you will be able to spot any dishonesty in others immediately, simply because it would be such a contrast to your own personality.

You like to have nice possessions of good value. There is a certain amount of responsibility which goes along with this, to make sure that your possessions are secure. It would be worth your while to get good locks and a security system for your house. You could also record the serial numbers of valuable possessions, so that they could be identified if stolen. If you collect valuable art, make sure that it is under lock and key from intruders.

Security is very important to you and the ultimate lesson about security is that it comes from within. If you feel secure at the unconscious level, you will then be secure at the outer level. Practice positive affirmations so that you will build up a solid reserve of self-confidence.

Venus in the 8th House

You have a strong sex drive and emotions, which you need to keep under control in order to maintain peaceful, harmonious relationships with members of the opposite sex. Avoid getting into situations where one person is trying to get even with the other.

You are likely to gain financially through inheritances and partnerships. However, avoid any bitter struggles with others over money, as this would be very upsetting to you and possibly dangerous. Make sure that your money is kept safe, as you are likely to be shrewd and careful enough to do.

Although you may be romantically attracted to members of the criminal element, put your own safety first.

Venus Trine Pluto:

(!) You experience ease in having meaningful social relationships. You are romantic and artistic and so you meet people easily, but you are also capable of great depth. Relationships are very important to you and, because you focus on caring about the feelings of others, you have a profound, transformative effect on them.

You would have a talent for assisting others who have more difficulty with their relationships. Others may have to deal with jealousies and conflicts, because they do not know where to place their affections. You could show them by your example and explain to them that harmony is indeed possible and that emotions cannot be repressed or denied, but at the same time, they must be handled responsibly for maximum fulfillment.

Chapter 6: Mars

Mars, Introduction:

Usually when we think of a crime we think of an act of aggression such as fighting, stabbing, shooting, beating, blows, bludgeoning, or arson. These crimes are all ruled by Mars.

In general, the metaphysical way to avoid being a victim of any of these crimes is to make sure that you are channeling the aggressive side of your personality constructively. That is because if you turn this energy inwards, rather than outwards into some activity, you will be using it against yourself. If you turn aggression towards yourself, others may tend to direct THEIR aggressive energies towards you too, because they are seeking an outlet for their own aggression. On the other hand, if your own Mars energy is flowing and being used in a healthy way, then others who are in need of guidance will follow your example and channel their aggressive energy constructively too. If you think well of yourself, you will create positive experiences for yourself. If you think negatively of yourself, you will attract negativity.

Mars in Gemini:

You are mentally aggressive and excellent at debating. You are able to talk your way out of tense situations. You are quick-thinking and physically agile. You would be good at any sport where flexibility of both mind and body are required, such as tennis, hockey or gymnastics. Participation in this type of activity would help to keep you fit and able to offset any difficulty.

You have good manual dexterity and can do several things at once. You might have talent as a police radio dispatcher, preventing crimes for others.

You would be good at getting activities going in your neighborhood to prevent crime, such as sports or clubs or educational courses. You would have the impetus to get your neighbors involved and active in these activities.

Sibling rivalry may be an issue for you, so make sure that you get along with your relatives. Your excellent communication skills would be helpful here.

Intellectually you are competitive but usually intellectuals are above the plane where crimes occur.

Guard against anyone trying to block your means of communication or stifling your activity, and keep active yourself.

Mars in the 8th House

You are emotionally intense and have strong desires. Therefore, you need to keep your feelings under control in order to avoid potential conflicts.

You are aggressive in joint finances. You also need to make sure that you are fair, so that your partner will not feel that he or she has to get revenge or get something back from you.

You have mystical interests and may be able to develop psychic ability in the direction of protecting yourself from crime. You would be interested in such strategies as psychic self-defense. You would also do well in the martial arts.

Mars Opposition Neptune:

(#) On one hand, you seek physical activity and on the other hand, you seek to be highly sensitive and far above the physical realm. The challenge here is to achieve a balance - that is, to find outlets which require both physical activity and divine inspiration. Perhaps you would enjoy being a hands-on healer, working through actual, physical contact with the person's body, but channeling healing energy to them at the same time. You might also have talent for art or be interested in yoga or Tai Chi.

The main thing is that you take the higher spiritual path and actually do something with it. In that way, your energies will not block up inside to the point where you would seek an escape, as that would make you more vulnerable to persons who sell drugs or alcohol. Also, if you came to the point of feeling the need to break away from your situation, you might run into conflict - so love yourself, honor your feelings, keep active, and others will be kind to you.

Mars Trine Uranus:

You experience ease in combining your high, intellectual ideals and your ability to put these ideas into fast, concrete action. Your awareness of the universal mind is an effective guide for you in choosing "right" action. This type of positive energy would deter crime, because crime happens when individuals become separated from their true purpose.

You could lead the community in a crime prevention project. You would quickly telephone everyone to get them excited about it and you would spur them on to get things done.

Your intuitive inspirations would also help you in any possible crime situation, because you would quickly perceive the correct thing to do and then do it. You would be fast-acting in any emergency.

Chapter 7: Jupiter

Jupiter, Introduction:

In the positive sense, Jupiter rules religious and philosophical beliefs, higher education, expansiveness, large-scale generosity, financial and material benefits and earned goodwill. If this type of energy is not flowing or if it gets wrongly diverted, it can turn into crimes involving large amounts of money or reliance on luck, theft of large items, or indulgent behavior getting out of hand.

To avoid becoming a victim of a crime associated with Jupiter, employ your optimism, goodwill and positive thinking. Faith can overcome crime on an individual level and also on a large-scale level through one's church, educational teachings, or inspired projects. In order not to become a victim of a large financial scheme, you can employ positive thinking to believe that you deserve to have the money which you have and to remember that you extended goodwill towards others in order to earn it. It is when you do not believe in your own prosperity that you are at risk of losing it. However, if you are in a situation where you know deep down that you have not earned the money you have and that you really have been too self-indulgent to deserve it, then you would be better off voluntarily giving a large amount of your money to charity than to have it taken away from you through a crime.

Jupiter in Scorpio:

You enjoy a challenge and are interested in large-scale business strategies. Others have to get to know you to appreciate that your motives are generous, because they may at first assume that you are secretive and scheming. There may be a bit of a risk there, if others misjudge you and think that they have to stop a strategist from taking over.

You are interested in mystical religion and may well find ideas within it which could be used to fortify you against crime. For example, you would learn about the idea of karma and that if you are kind to others, the same kind of energy will come back to you.

You are likely to be generous with other peoples' money, so make sure that this is with their permission and willingness.

The worst-case scenario for Jupiter in Scorpio - and it would happen extremely rarely - would be the concept of profit from a killing. However, in almost all cases, the energy would be used in a far more positive way, even to investigate such crimes as a profession and to be the one to stop them. Your investigative skills into any money scheme would be excellent. For example, you would do well in the fields of insurance, inheritances, taxes and accounting.

Remember that Scorpio energy is capable of either the greatest good or the greatest evil, so always choose the greatest good.

Jupiter in the 1st House

You are optimistic and self-confident and able to deter would-be criminals by your positive attitude. You certainly do not come across as a likely victim, because you are happy and self-assertive.

Your good vitality would help you overpower any attacker if there were ever the need. You are likely to be good at sports and physically fit.

You have the ability to lead and inspire others. You could inspire them to overcome the problem of crime by giving uplifting spiritual talks which would get them to go out there and actually do something. You could get sports activities going for the young, which would be a much preferable alternative to letting them get involved with drugs or vandalism.

Chapter 8: Saturn

Saturn, Introduction:

In its positive meaning, Saturn rules discipline, order and recognition, but if the demands of the disciplinarian become too harsh or if the pressure to seek recognition is too great, then Saturn can operate in a negative way.

The types of crimes associated with Saturn are those of a sadistic, cruel or brutal nature. As Saturn governs limitations and rules, it also plays a part in crimes of confinement, drug enforcement, and crimes against authority figures.

The way to avoid Saturnine crimes is to enhance the positive qualities of Saturn within yourself. That is, accept that there have to be certain rules for society to work; attend to your career responsibilities, and carry out your duties as an authority fairly. Do not wear yourself down with too many rules; do not become a work addict; and do not be authoritarian. In short, take the responsibility for your own conduct and your own karma, so that others will not be inclined to fill that gap for you.

Saturn in Taurus:

You are likely to work very hard and to accumulate considerable wealth over a long period of time. You would be wise to protect what you have earned with the same patience and endurance as it took to acquire it. In other words, make sure that your property is well protected by a good security system; it is worth the investment. Do not be ostentatious about your wealth, because if others know that you have something, they may be more inclined to steal it. Therefore, have your home looking neat and respectable and do not have it stand out in any way from other houses on the street; in that way, it will not be a likely target for thieves. A fence or hedge surrounding the property might also serve as a deterrent.

You like hard work but be sure to balance that with relaxation, so that you will not be driving yourself too hard, because it is if you are overworked that you would be more vulnerable to crime.

Saturn in the 7th House

You are responsible and fair in relationships and, therefore, likely to have a peaceful home without domestic discord. You would also be a responsible business partner and would live up to any legal agreements.

Because of your cooperative attitude, you are not likely to be in any aggressive confrontations. If anyone confronted you, you would keep your head and not be controlled by your emotions.

If you work in the field of law or police work, you would be able to work for long hours, preparing accurate evidence for the courts.

Chapter 9: Uranus

Uranus, Introduction:

On the positive side, Uranus rules freedom, individuality, original ideas, the link with the Universal Mind, friends and group purpose. However, if Uranian energy is blocked or distorted, its negative manifestations may result. These can include rebellion, crimes involving more than one victim or offender, crimes assisted by a friend or group, unexpected or unusual crimes, and crimes involving several of something, such as several shots or wounds.

In order to avoid becoming the victim of a crime influenced by Uranus, you need to make sure that your needs related to Uranian energy are being expressed. For example, if you need the freedom to be an individual and authorities are imposing too many rules on you, you may attract rebellious behavior from others who actually think they are providing you with what you need; they will regard their actions as part of a "cause". Therefore, you need to get yourself out of the situation where the rules are being imposed, for your own good. You may also need to seek out a group of friends who share your ideals, so that you will be less vulnerable. It may be that you need to see a universal purpose in the work which you are doing, because if you are bored with your activity, then you will unconsciously attract negative, sudden events, as a distraction.

Uranus in Libra:

You are mentally, rather than physically, inclined and therefore very unlikely to be associating with those who tend towards aggression or dominance. Instead you have innovative ideas about how to bring about peace. You know that tolerance and fairness are the answers to crime. You have a magnetic personality which could inspire others to talk about their differences peacefully.

Uranus in the 12th House

You are mystical and clairvoyant and able to tell psychically whether a situation is going to be safe or not and you can therefore have plenty of time to make your escape if necessary.

You seek higher spiritual awareness, perhaps through meditation. You are likely aware that the energy which you put out is what comes back to you and, therefore, you meditate on higher consciousness and you work at clearing any blockages from the past which may be interfering with your ability to meditate on pure light and freedom from crime.

You would have ability in the area of helping the police solve crimes using your psychic perceptions but you would want to be free from any restrictions and rules which might be imposed on you if you got involved in this type of work.

Uranus Sextile Neptune:

(!) You have a great deal of intuition and this helps you to see ahead as to what trends are forming long before they occur. You are able to protect yourself from crime in this way because, for example, if the neighborhood is becoming run down you have the flexibility to get up and move somewhere else.

You would be interested in the cause of preventing drunk driving and the harm caused by addiction and alcohol or drugs. You may join a community group of persons concerned about these issues or you may become involved in a political way. You are open-minded about the rights of individuals to do what they want with their own health but you are against having them interfere with the freedom of others when they are under the influence of an addictive substance.

Chapter 10: Neptune

Neptune, Introduction:

Neptune, in its positive sense, rules imagination, intuition, the creative faculty and spiritual destiny. If this type of energy is blocked or distorted it can result in negative manifestations such as deception, theft, escape or disappearance. Neptunian energy can be distorted by alcohol or drugs or by unconscious self-deception.

The way to handle Neptunian energy, so as to avoid the crimes associated with it, is first to acknowledge your creative, emotional, intuitive side. Our society tends to value logic and rational thinking, but there is a whole other realm of potential ruled by the right side of the brain. Exercises which enhance creativity and psychic and spiritual awareness are very helpful here. If you acknowledge this side of your being rather than try to make it "disappear", you will not attract crimes of illusion, such as theft or being kidnapped.

Remember, too, that it is okay to be sensitive and that sensitive feelings do not need to be denied through alcohol or drugs. These substances, if used to escape from reality, hide rather than bring out your true self. Even if your sensitive feelings are painful or uncomfortable, it is better to acknowledge them and deal with them, so that the repression of them will not weaken you and make you vulnerable.

Neptune in Sagittarius:

You were born at a time when people were visionary, intuitive and seeking for truth through meditation and mysticism. Crime and violence were not of particular concern. Where there was crime it tended to be deceptive money schemes or large profits from drugs. Among some there was over-indulgence in drugs and alcohol. How these trends influenced you as an individual would depend on the rest of your chart.

Neptune in the 2nd House

You are very astute in taking psychic perception and applying it in practical ways. For example, you could use your psychic impressions either to tell where there are opportunities which you could take advantage of, or on the negative side, to tell where there are dangers which you should avoid. You could tell where there is likely to be a risk of crime and then to avoid that area or that person.

Your psychic ability could help to attract money, and in keeping with the concept of good karma, you would then be likely to help those in need of money. In that way, you would be reaching those who might otherwise turn to crime if they came to feel that no one would help them.

Neptune Sextile Pluto:

(!) This aspect is characteristic of your whole generation, rather than just of you as an individual, so it gives insight into an overall trend of which you are part and in which you can do your part.

The trend is for there to be a favorable link between people's imaginative, creative faculty, intuition, and spiritual destiny, on one hand, and their ability to deal with extremes of good and evil on the other. In other words, if enough people meditate and channel positive energies in the right way, then the problem of crime can be eliminated in this generation.

The members of this generation have the potential to uplift their spirits from the escapes of alcohol and drugs and other denials of their true nature. They can express, rather than repress, their creative spirits and harmonize their inspirations with the divine good. They can heal the hurts which then surface, neutralize the karma from many ages past, which becomes clear to them, and they can create a whole new destiny for the future in which crime will not be a part. This new age can spring from the awareness that what we think is what we create and what we create is what we become. We have the power to choose and we can choose a crime-free society.

Chapter 11: Pluto

Pluto, Introduction:

The kind of aggression associated with Pluto is that of revenge, jealousy, long-standing anger or resentment. While Mars aggression is a quick flare-up which just as quickly dissipates, Pluto aggression is likely to be premeditated, extremely shocking, or very forceful. Pluto is associated with such crimes as homicide, extreme violence, extreme sexual attacks, and gang attack.

The important thing to understand about Pluto energy is that it CAN be just as positive as it can be negative. If the same intensity of energy were taken from these extreme crimes and directed towards a positive end, the results would be just as extremely beneficial as the criminal alternative would be destructive. Pluto energy, however, is never moderate, so if you have strong Pluto influences in your chart, be sure to maintain conscious control over them, so that the intensely GOOD results will follow. Your Pluto energy gives you a wonderful opportunity to transform yourself and others for the better. It can solve problems for the masses. Use this energy as it was intended, because if you bottle it up inside and the pressure builds up and eats away at you, you can imagine what kind of treatment you might unconsciously attract from others.

Pluto in Virgo:

You were born in a generation when there were great changes in the workplace. There were also revolutionary developments in alternative, holistic health care. How Pluto affected you as an individual member of that generation depends on the house and aspects of Pluto in your own natal chart.

Pluto in the 12th House

You are capable of profound psychic insights. You would potentially even be able to help the police solve crimes as a psychic, by either telling them where to find a body or who an offender is and where that person can be found or where a missing person can be located.

You are able to use the unconscious to transform the conscious. That is because your emotions run deep and you have access to the deeper levels of awareness which many persons shut off. Your profound perceptions could protect you from danger. Of course, be careful that you do not pick up too many fears or negative influences with your receptivity. Learn to be detached from what your unconscious perceives. Achieve this state of detachment by meditation and by emotional healing of any past hurts, even if this proves to be a hurtful and intense process. It will be worth it in the long run to achieve a state of clarity and inner peace.
